

Steven Salaita:

Palestine & the Limits of Academic Freedom

Israel's military aggression in Gaza this summer resulted in the deaths of more than 2000 Palestinian civilians, including children.

Homes, schools, UN centers and hospitals were bombed. The infrastructure of Gaza was all but destroyed.

This was the reality that Professor Salaita tweeted his opposition to. The U of I / Champaign-Urbana, which had offered him a job, then fired him on the order of the U of I board.

Do professors have a right to be outraged by events in the world and to speak about them forcefully outside of their classrooms? How does the new McCarthyism impact efforts to support Palestinian rights on college campuses? Are some ideas open for debate and others off limits?

Join us as Professor Salaita speaks out about Censorship and Palestine.

1 PM - Tuesday, Oct. 7
Student Center East
750 S. Halsted Street, Room 605
Students for Justice in Palestine - U of I Chicago Chapter

Co-sponsored by the following University of Illinois at Chicago units: Asian American Studies Program, Department of African American Studies, Department of English, Gender and Women's Studies Program, Institute for Research on Race and Public Policy, International Studies, School of Art and Art History, and the UIC Social Justice Initiative.

Professor Salaita's Oct. 6-10 Chicago area tour is organized by the Students for Justice in Palestine chapters at Northwestern University, University of Chicago, Columbia College, DePaul University, and the University of Illinois/Chicago, and the multi-issue LGBT organization Gay Liberation Network. Co-sponsored by the 8th Day Center for Justice, American Muslims for Palestine, Anti War Committee, American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee, Chicago Area CodePINK, Chicago Area Peace Action, Committee for a Just Peace in Israel and Palestine, Evanston Neighbors for Peace, Haymarket Books, International Socialist Organization, Jewish Voice for Peace - Chicago, La Voz de los de Abajo, March 19th Anti-War Coalition, Northwest Indiana Veterans For Peace, Palestine Solidarity Legal Support, U.S. Palestinian Community Network, and World Can't Wait Chicago (list in formation). For more information, email LGBTliberation@aol.com

Labor donated